

To the Kings Most Excellent Majesty.

The Humble Address of the Grand Jury for the County of Surrey, at the Affizes held at Kingston, this Twentieth Day of July, Anno Dom. 1681.

GREAT SIR,

YOUR Majesties late Gracious Declaration, upon the dutiful confidence which we and all Your good Subjects have in Your Royal Word, hath so fully answered all our hopes, and anticipated all our wishes, that we conceive there is nothing further left us to desire, than that Your Majesty may long continue, what You are, a Most Indulgent and Beloved Prince; and We, what we sincerely profess, and joyfully acknowledge our selves to be, Your Majesties obedient and happy Subjects.

So that the Design of this our present humble Application is, To discover our sense of the happiness we enjoy under Your Majesties Government, and to let the World see, We will not be diverted or deterred from any decent or seasonable expression of our Duty and Allegiance, notwithstanding many late Pamphlets, and little tricks of Popular Rhetorick, have been used on purpose to discountenance and expose loyal Addressees.

We are ashamed that the practices of some few factious men should make it necessary for us to express what always ought to be supposed and granted, That good Subjects are sensible of the Blessings of a just Government; and we beg Your Majesty to be assured, That our Zeal for Your Majesties Service had kept pace with that of the most early Addressees, though in a modest imitation of Your Majesties Resolutions of acting according to Law, we have forborn thus publicly to declare it till we were legally qualified so to do.

And therefore, as in the time of the late Rebellion, many Gentlemen of the best Character of this Your County of SURREY did, to their utmost hazard, and with the loss of some of their lives, assert their Loyalty by Petition on behalf of Your Royal Father to the late usurped Powers; so at this time, We, the Grand Jury for the Body of this County, do humbly presume to assure Your Majesty, That our Lives and Fortunes are intirely devoted to the Service of Your Majesties Person and Crown in its legal Descent to Your Rightful Heirs and Successors, the preservation of the Protestant Religion and Government, as by Law established, in Church and State, in opposition to the Hellish Contrivances of Undermining Papists and Restless Dissenters.

The High Sheriff and the Justices of the Peace for this County do concur in this Address, being present at the Affizes, and do unanimously and cordially subscribe their Names to it.

The Names of the Grand Jury, fourteen of them being in Commission of the Peace.
